

California's Water Crisis

BY THE NUMBERS

85%

of Californians would be extremely or very concerned if their drinking water were contaminated.

72%

would be willing to pay to fix drinking water problems.

71%

of Californians think we should invest in infrastructure to ensure the safety of our drinking water.

Californians are concerned about safe drinking water not only in their communities but across the state.

